Participants

The national conference "My Revolution" attracted participants aged between 14 and 25 years from various middle schools, high schools, and universities in Slovenia. The conference was held in Ljubljana in the spaces of the Environment Center. The strong youth presence demonstrated their eagerness to engage in intellectual and thought-provoking discussions. The geographic representation signifies the broad reach of the conference across Slovenia, showcasing its national significance. Overall, the conference gathered a vibrant and diverse group of young individuals, reflecting their enthusiasm and their potential in Slovenia.

The national conference was separated into two parts: creating common national demands and an online call with the Italian delegation. In the first one, we separated our participants into groups, where each group worked on one topic with ideas gathered from the local workshops.
